

Christopher's Smile was set up in October 2008 by Karen and Kevin Capel following the tragic death of their only son Christopher from medulloblastoma, an aggressive childhood brain tumour. In partnership with the Institute of Cancer Research, Christopher's Smile aims to raise money to fund development of new drugs to treat medulloblastoma and other childhood cancers without devastating side effects.

coz kids get cancer too

'The only way in which the 25% of children with cancer who currently die can be cured is by the development of new drugs. The Institute of Cancer Research is uniquely placed to develop these drugs. Christopher's Smile will help enormously in achieving our goals'.
Andy Pearson, Professor of Paediatric Oncology.

Our Vision

'Our vision is for every child diagnosed with childhood cancer to not only survive, but to reach adulthood enjoying a good quality of life.'
